

SALES OF TOBACCO MARKETS ACTIVE

Loose Leaf Being Sold by the Millions—Dark Goods Coming In.

A SHORTAGE OF GOOD STOCK

Leaf Higher Than for Several Years—Larger Deliveries Looked For This Week.

The loose leaf tobacco business continues exceedingly active in all the markets of Virginia and North Carolina. This activity is not now confined so strictly to the markets of Lynchburg, Petersburg, Chase City, Farmville and Richmond as it was some time ago. The buyers of the dark tobaccos are eager for stock and on all of the markets they are attending the auction sales in full force. The sales at the Richmond warehouse last week amounted to nearly 200,000 pounds, and marked improvement was shown in the quality and general character of the offerings. The bidding on all grades was spirited, and prices were advanced all along the line. The market is now decidedly active, and the warehousemen look for very large receipts of the sun-cured stocks this week. The "season" of last week enabled the growers to get large quantities of the weed in order for marketing.

Lynchburg Tobacco Market.
Lynchburg, Va., November 9.—John D. Ogilby, of the Lynchburg Tobacco Warehouse Company (Inc.), makes the following report of leaf tobacco sold on the Lynchburg market:
Sold week ending November 7, 41,700 pounds; sold week ending November 7, 41,700 pounds; decrease this week, 22,300 pounds. Sold from September 1 to November 10, 1911, 2,063,300 pounds; sold from September 1 to November 7, 1912, 1,777,900 pounds; decrease for 1912, 285,400 pounds.
The election on Tuesday and rain on Wednesday and Thursday kept the farmers at home, and sales were light this week in consequence. It is expected, however, the receipts will be heavy next week.
The offerings continue to consist of inferior grades (largely), and no change of prices was noted.
The demand for all good grades is very strong, and such grades command good prices.

Danville Tobacco Report.
Danville, Va., November 8.—The sales for the week were much smaller than for several weeks past, due to the election and heavy rains. The quality is noticeably inferior in color and quality as compared with the early deliveries, as has been generally predicted it would be.
Prices remain firm on all grades of bright tobacco with no suspicion of a decline from the highest quotation of the season. Common tobaccos only appear not to be in urgent demand, and there are being taken by rather reluctant buyers, with the apparent feeling that low grades will be in even larger proportionate supply as the deliveries progress. Very little redried tobacco has changed hands during the week.
Heavy receipts are looked for during the coming week if the weather is at all favorable.

LOVE-SICK TAILOR GOES TO NEW YORK

"All the Girls Are Stuck on Me," He Says, When Detective Puts Him on Train.

"All the girls are stuck on me," was the last remark of John Koller, the love-sick Hungarian tailor, who has been held in the City Jail Hospital as a lunatic for several weeks, as he was taken to police headquarters, where he told Chief of Police Werner New York yesterday afternoon by Detective-Sergeant Kellam. Koller first gained notoriety when he was arrested here last spring for annoying a young society woman by writing her letters and following her about the streets. He was adjudged insane by a lunacy commission. However, he was not committed to an asylum, but allowed to leave the city and State when $250 bond for him was furnished by Attorney Benjamin Lovenstein.

About three weeks ago Koller again turned up in Richmond, and the police were apprised of the fact by L. Droste, Hungarian vice-consul. He was taken to police headquarters, where he told Chief of Police Werner New York yesterday afternoon by De-sex and fascinated all with whom he came in contact. He also labored under the hallucination that several men were pursuing him with intent upon taking his life.

Koller was again sent to jail, and Judge D. C. Richardson, in the Hustings Court, again gave permission for him to leave the State and renewed the bond.
While on his way from the jail to the train, Koller told Sergeant Kellam of many of his conquests in Richmond, Rochester, N. Y.; Chicago, New York, Charleston, S. C., and other cities.
Koller has not been in this country long. He is regarded as a good tailor and is capable of earning high wages. He appears to be affluent. He speaks but poor English.

Koller is not prepossessing in appearance. He is slightly built, has a fair complexion and his upper lip is adorned with a faint mustache.

JAMES RIVER A PUBLIC HIGHWAY

Law and Equity Court Denies Exclusive Claim to Stream at Belle Isle.

IRON AND NAIL WORKS LOSES

Court Dismisses Suit to Restrain City and C. & O. From Using Upper River.

More than three years of litigation came to a sudden end yesterday, when Judge Beverly T. Crump ordered stricken from the docket of the Law and Equity Court an action brought by the Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works to restrain the city of Richmond and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway from impairing its water-power at Belle Isle.

The proceedings, which have taken many forms since began with the filing of a suit in the Law and Equity Court on May 12, 1909. The Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works, owned by the Gould interests, operates a large plant on Belle Isle. The island is held under a Colonial grant issued early in the eighteenth century. Since the river at this point is above tide-water and not navigable, the company contended, the stream on each side and the water-power which it furnishes is the peculiar property of the Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works and cannot be diminished or impaired through other uses.

Sought to Restrain City.
The city of Richmond became a party to the suit, because it takes its water supply from the river at Moehrs Dam, about nine miles above Belle Isle, thus diminishing materially the volume of water at the island.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway became a defendant by reason of certain rights to the upper river held by it as legal successor to the Richmond and Alleghany Railway Company, which acquired its rights from the old James River and Kanawha Canal Company. The latter company held its claims through a grant from the State Legislature.

Immediately upon the filing of the suit, the city and the railway company demurred jointly to the evidence offered by the plaintiff, and asked that the suit be thrown out of court on the ground that this was not sufficient to warrant the action.

River Public Highway.
In the decree dismissing the suit, Judge Crump held that while the old English law gave owners above tide-water, property rights in the river, the James was a navigable stream at points above Belle Isle, and in this character a true public highway open to common use. The evidence offered by the plaintiff, in the opinion of the court, was not sufficient to overthrow a number of legislative acts and statutes, all establishing the river as a public highway.
While this order formally ended the litigation in the Law and Equity Court, there is a strong probability that the matter will be carried to the final decision to the State's highest tribunal. Such an intention was indicated yesterday by attorneys for the Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works.

IN HENRICO JAIL

Negro Charged With Criminal Crime in Archer.
Archer Ellis, a negro boy, fifteen years of age, who is charged with an attempted assault on a white girl, eight years old, in Charles City County, was last night brought to Richmond and lodged in the Henrico County Jail by Constable D. H. Myott.

The child's screams attracted the attention of a patrolman, who took her to the police station. The victim of the assault is the daughter of Edward Adams, a prominent citizen of Henrico. The child's screams attracted the attention of a patrolman, who took her to the police station. The victim of the assault is the daughter of Edward Adams, a prominent citizen of Henrico.

Following a brief search Ellis was arrested and placed in the Charles City Jail. When the story became known popular excitement ran high, and indignant citizens thronged the streets. Reports from the county yesterday showed that the ardor was cooling down, and that no violence was probable.

In order to be on the safe side, however, Judge D. Gardner Tyler, of the Charles City Circuit Court, ordered that the prisoner be transferred to the Henrico County Jail, and it was in pursuance of that order that Constable Myott brought Ellis here last night. He will be detained here probably until his trial is called.

W. H. Palmer Improving.
W. H. Palmer, a member of the city police force, is improving steadily in the Virginia Hospital, and will probably be discharged before the end of this week.

PROPOSE TO DRAIN OVERFLOWED LAND

Owners of Land on Chickahominy Start Movement for Reclamation.

PETITION IS CIRCULATED

Will Establish Drainage District. Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

Definite shape was taken yesterday in the movement for drainage of the overflowed lands along the Chickahominy River, at a meeting of the Chickahominy Drainage Association, held at Murphy's Hotel. Sixteen signatures of landowners were secured to the petition to the court for the establishment of a drainage district.

Speakers urged action on the part of owners who will pay their proportionate part of the cost of reclamation like taxes, divided over a number of years. Under the law, drainage bonds will be issued, as a lien on the property, the additional taxes being levied to redeem these securities.

Urges Reclamation.

Among the speakers were Governor Mann and W. W. Old, Jr., of Norfolk. Both had something to say about the desirability of drainage from every standpoint—health for the country dweller and the city man, prosperity for the owner of the rich overflowed property after reclamation, and additional property values added to the State and country. Mr. Old told of instances where drainage has paid several hundred per cent on the investment. No doubt is felt that drainage in the Chickahominy bottoms will at least double land values.
Congressman-Elect A. J. Montagu was in attendance at the meeting, taking great interest in the proceedings. George M. Warren, drainage engineer for the United States Department of Agriculture, was present. It was under his direction that the survey was made this year of reclaimable lands along the Chickahominy. This survey, which cost the national government thousands of dollars, was free to the people. It leaves the matter ready for bids, all that is to be done being plainly marked out and platted.

Want All to Be Helped.

Every resident who owns any part of the land included in the survey is urged to co-operate, and to write the president or the secretary of the association regarding the matter. It is hoped to complete the petition at an early day, so that it may be presented to the court.

This being the annual meeting of the Chickahominy Drainage Association, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Dr. D. W. Starbuck, Edmond, R. F. D. No. 1, president; F. C. Hoenninger, Richmond, vice-president; W. D. Byrdner, Ellerson, Va., secretary; J. G. Tinsley, Richmond, R. F. D. No. 7, treasurer; W. W. Old, Jr., Norfolk, Va., attorney.
An organization committee was elected, composed of Dr. Starbuck and Mr. Hoenninger.
